ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

COMES NOW the Court and upon the reading of the verified First Amended Motion for Contempt and Motion for Attorney Fees does hereby ORDER Petitioner, Cheri Ann Piccione, to show cause before me in the Circuit Court of St. Louis County on the 17th day of November, 2023, at the hour of 11:00 a.m. why she should not be adjudged guilty of contempt and punished therefore until compliance is had for her direct willful and deliberate actions in failing to notify Respondent of doctor's appointments for Jacob, failing to pay to Respondent the sum of $2,105.74 as Ordered in the modification judgment, failing to provide Respondent with 43% of Jacob's social security disability benefits, failing and willfully refusing to comply with the custody order for Jacob as Ordered in the dissolution judgment by refusing to provide Respondent with custody of Jacob during his custody times pursuant to Court Order.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that upon your failure to appear and show cause at the aforesaid hearing date, the allegations of the Motion for Contempt of Court prepared by Respondent may be deemed admitted and the Court may find that you have willfully and intentionally refused to obey its Judgment by your failure and refusal to abide by the terms of the Order and that a Judgment of Contempt should be entered and a Warrant of Commitment requiring your incarceration until such time that you purge the Judgment of Contempt should it be issued; and

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a true and correct copy of this Order to Show Cause and the Motion for Contempt prepared by Respondent's attorney be served upon Petitioner, Cheri Piccione, not less than seven (7) days prior to the aforesaid hearing date and that the officer making service endorse the same on the original hereof as a true and correct return upon this Order.

Dated this 18th day of October, 2023.

SO ORDERED:

Judge Div. 32
