Donald J. Marcks ("Marcks") appeals from the judgment of the trial court denying his motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict ("JNOV"), for additur, or for a new trial following a jury verdict in his petition for damages against Edward W. Wilson.

AFFIRMED.

Division Two Holds: The trial court did not abuse its discretion either in denying Marcks's motion for a new trial because the evidence did not establish juror misconduct; or in denying Marcks's motion for additur or a new trial because the verdict was not against the weight of the evidence and the record did not establish the verdict was the result of bias or passion.
