12. Describe the nature and extent of your experience as a practicing attorney in the trial and appellate courts, and explain how such experience demonstrates the quality of your legal work.

For nearly 18 years I have maintained a general practice in rural Platte County, Missouri, which has enabled me to gain great experience both in terms of case variety and complexity. During my career as an attorney I have had the opportunity to appear in the civil, criminal, and probate courts at both the associate circuit and circuit court level as well as argue cases in the Missouri Court of Appeals, Western District. This experience has provided me the opportunity to conduct jury trials in both civil and criminal matters along with many additional civil and criminal cases that have been tried to the court.

Throughout my career as an attorney I have been fortunate to retain numerous repeat clients as well as many families where I have represented multiple generations. I feel that the trust and confidence I have gained from my clients is demonstrative of the quality of my legal representation and is one of my proudest accomplishments. I have been honored to be contacted multiple times throughout my career by other attorneys and court staff for my assistance and counsel on their personal legal matters. I also believe that the trust and confidence my peers have placed in me confirms the quality of the legal work that I provide to all clients.

I have also been called upon to act as special prosecutor for municipalities throughout the Kansas City Metropolitan area and also for the Platte County Prosecutor's Office. I have always considered it a compliment to be trusted to represent the interest of the citizens and I believe that those special appointments help demonstrate the continuing quality of my legal work.

31. Provide any additional information that you consider relevant to your qualifications for the office of Circuit Judge.

I have always been committed to looking at problems in different ways in order to understand and resolve them. To that end, I have completed a 40 hour mediation training program and I have been fortunate enough to work on a number of complex cases with talented mediators (and opposing counsel) throughout the Kansas City metropolitan area. I have also completed the Harvard Negotiation Institute program "Workshop Essentials for Lawyers and Working Professionals." I believe that intellectual curiosity is a trait that I possess.

I maintain a general practice firm in a small community and have represented clients on a wide variety of matters over the years. Although I have appeared in courts throughout western Missouri, the majority of my courtroom experience has been in Platte County. I am currently familiar with the various dockets of each division in Platte County as well as the types of cases handled, the court staff involved and the attorneys that regularly appear in those divisions.

In order to illustrate the breadth of cases I have handled over the years, I am attaching a list that is representative of those in which I have been involved.

Question #12: Set forth any additional information that demonstrates the quality of your legal work as an attorney.

The following testimonials are from clients with whom I have spent a great deal of time over a period of years. They are being shared in order to demonstrate the quality of my legal work.

"I am a litigation attorney practicing in California. When my father passed away, we needed an attorney at my family's home in Missouri who was well versed in litigation and probate law. It was particularly important to us that we hire someone who knew the local court system, had excellent judgment, and would act ethically and responsibly since our family's name would be associated with the attorney's actions.

Our case was complex, unusual and hard-fought, and Quint Shafer was able to assist us with every facet of the case and ultimately achieved a great result for our family."

- CHL, California

"My daughter was tragically killed in a trucking accident and my whole world was turned upside down. She had two small children that needed me. I knew I needed help too and began looking for the right attorney.

I met with Quint Shafer and he worked hand-in-hand with me on all the complicated issues I faced: guardianship/conservatorship, paternity and a wrongful death suit. We worked together for more than two years on my case. Numerous experts were involved. I am very pleased with his guidance and the results we have achieved.

While I have been very happy with Quint Shafer's hard work and advice, it is the little things that make a difference. For example, the way he makes you feel like your case is his only case and does his utmost to comfort you in decisions that need to be made. He makes sure you understand, in lay terms, what is being said to you so you know how to respond if a response is needed. He is kind and dedicated and sensitive to his work and your case. He made me feel very comfortable in my choices."

Juvenile Case. Applicant assisted in preparation of brief and was lead attorney for purposes of oral argument on behalf of Platte County Juvenile Office.

County division of family services (DFS) petitioned for alternative care placement of children. The Circuit Court, placed children in division's custody for alternative care placement. Mother appealed. The Court of Appeals held that: (1) affidavit of reasonable efforts signed by DFS worker and offered by guardian ad litem was not admissible under business record exception to hearsay rule, and (2) error in admitting affidavit was reversible. Reversed and remanded.

2. Case Citation: Taranto v. Missouri Dep't of Soc. Services, 962 S.W.2d 897 (Mo.App.1998)

Juvenile Case. Applicant prepared appellate brief on behalf of Platte County Juvenile Office.

Father appealed determination of the Child Support Enforcement Division of the Department of Social Services (DSS) ruling that annuity payments which he received under personal injury settlement should be included in his gross income when determining his child support obligation, and ordering him to maintain health insurance for his daughter. The Circuit Court of Platte County reversed and DSS appealed. In matter of first impression, the Court of Appeals held that: (1) annuity payments were to be included in father's gross income; (2) court had discretion to reduce obligation for amount of payment father needed for past and current medical expenses; and (3) relative availability, quality and cost of insurance coverage to each parent was to be considered to determine which plan was most reasonable for child. Reversed and remanded.

3. Case Citation: City of Kansas City v. Hon. 972 S.W.2d 407 (Mo.App.1998)

Condemnation Case. Applicant represented Unborn and Unknown Heirs and joined in Respondent's brief. Did not take part in oral argument.

Reversed and remanded.

Question #14 – List of appellate court cases (continued):

Family Law Case (relocation). Represented Father at trial and assisted in preparation of brief and was lead attorney for purposes of oral argument.

Mother appealed the order of the Circuit Court, Platte County, preventing her from relocating out-of-state with her two minor children. The Court of Appeals held that: failure to send written notice by certified mail in strict conformity with statute governing relocation of children did not automatically entitle father to order to prevent relocation; and evidence supported finding that proposed relocation of children out-of-state was not in children's best interests. Affirmed.

5. Case Citation: Schlotman v. Costa, 193 S.W.3d 430 (Mo.App. W.D.2006)

Family Law Case (relocation). Represented Father at trial and assisted in preparation of brief and was lead attorney for purposes of oral argument.

Mother filed motion to relocate children to another state. The Circuit Court, Platte County, allowed mother to relocate children to another state. Father appealed. The Court of Appeals held that: court's failure to make requisite findings under relocation statute required remand for findings on best interest factors and public policy; and trial court's failure to enter new parenting plan that would comply with requirements of relocation statute required remand. Reversed and remanded.
